

07:03:57 From Negin Mirriahi : Hi everyone. Post your questions here.

07:08:33 From Jane Abbey : Hi Everyone. We are going fully online October to February at my Uni in the UK

07:09:42 From Jane Abbey : CAN I USE AUDIO?

07:14:35 From judy : I was wondering whether you use Perusall or Hypothesis or another collaborative reading platform? Would you recommend them — especially for higher level English Lit courses at university?

07:20:44 From Lizelle : I work in a vocational institution in Saudi Arabia, so I have some challenges with my students specially with the cultural differences between us, Can I use Audio?

07:21:17 From judy : thanks

07:25:45 From Marby Villaceran : Hi! Like Judy, I am interested in humanities-leaning learning apps. Would you know how to bring the socratic method of inquiry to the online space?

07:31:05 From Marby Villaceran : thank you! It does.

07:31:33 From Marby Villaceran : I think I'm leaning towards an asynchronous chat first then maybe a zoom session to synthesize.

07:32:06 From dianapotts : This could be off topic...I'm looking to expand my skillset into instructional design. Suggestions on where to start?

07:32:14 From Marby Villaceran : I'm from the Philippines, so access to the Internet can be problematic.

07:32:41 From dianapotts : I'm taking the EdEx class in July

07:33:04 From dianapotts : I finished my EdD in November

07:33:16 From dianapotts : Thanks :)

07:34:23 From Jane Abbey : How do you motivate students to read articles within lecture setting and then discuss it - do you set questions for them to focus on and then discuss as a group?

07:34:31 From dianapotts : That would be great. I'm reading Small Teaching and got "Design for How People Learn"

07:35:00 From dianapotts : thank you!

07:37:22 From dianapotts : With that model- I found it was helpful to build in time for the students to report back to the whole group after their discussion time too.

07:37:54 From Jane Abbey : Thanks

07:38:54 From Lizelle : Thank you

07:39:03 From Jose : Yes, we're here... thnx

07:40:43 From Marby Villaceran : Thank you!

07:40:45 From dianapotts : Thank you! Thanks for the resources

07:40:49 From Jane Abbey : Thanks

07:40:51 From judy : thanks

07:40:52 From Jose : Thank you =)
